

Tax-exempt interest dividends by state for Vanguard Municipal Bond Funds and Vanguard Tax-Managed Balanced Fund

Important tax information for 2012

This tax update provides important information to help report your earnings by state from any of your Vanguard municipal bond funds and Vanguard Tax-Managed Balanced Fund on your year-end tax returns.

Of the tax-exempt interest dividends reported on Form 1099-DIV, Box 10, 100% are tax-exempt for federal income tax purposes. A portion of these tax-exempt interest dividends may also be exempt from state or local tax, depending on the state and local tax laws that apply where you file your return. Note: Beginning with tax year 2012, tax-exempt interest dividends from mutual funds will be reported on Form 1099-DIV; they're no longer reported on Form 1099-INT.

The table on the reverse side provides the portion of your tax-exempt interest dividends reported on Form 1099-DIV, Box 10, that was earned in each state or U.S. territory during 2012. This is the portion of your tax-exempt interest dividends that may also be exempt from state and local taxes. Depending on your state and local laws, you may be able to reduce the taxable income that you must report by the percentages shown on the reverse side for the funds you're reporting.

The tax-exempt interest dividends earned from obligations issued by U.S. territories are generally exempt for state purposes. Therefore, you may be able to add the "Outside the United States" percentages shown at the bottom of the table to your state-exempt percentage for a total exempt amount. Consult a tax advisor for more information.

Also note that tax-exempt interest dividends from these funds may be subject to the federal alternative minimum tax. For further information, refer to Vanguard's update entitled Reporting of 2012 Mutual Fund Dividends and Distributions.

Do you invest in a Vanguard state-specific municipal bond fund?

If so, investment income you've received may not be subject to state income tax. In addition to being 100% exempt from federal income taxes, interest dividends from Vanguard state-specific municipal bond funds (listed below) are 100% exempt from state taxes to resident shareholders of that state. For example, if you reside in California and own shares of Vanguard California Tax-Exempt Money Market Fund, the income reported on Form 1099-DIV, Box 10, is 100% exempt from California state income tax. Note that tax-exempt income from a state-specific municipal bond fund may be subject to state-imposed alternative minimum tax requirements, depending on the state tax laws that apply to you.

Notes:

- The information provided above applies to all share classes of a fund.
- The percentage of assets that each of the Vanguard municipal bond funds and Vanguard Tax-Managed Balanced Fund have invested in each state and U.S. territory at the end of 2012 can be found in the "State-specific tax information" area of our Tax Center at vanguard.com.

*Minnesota requires that 95% of the tax-exempt interest dividends be derived from Minnesota source obligations in order for the income to be exempt from state tax. None of the funds met this criterion for 2012. Therefore, all tax-exempt interest dividends from these funds are subject to Minnesota state income tax.
